Why Borovets?

Borovets is one of the oldest leisure area in Bulgaria dating back 70 years when the royal family and the upper middle class started building there weekend residences and chalets. Many of these can still be seen in the resort including the king's hunting and mountain residence. Located 1 hour drive from Sofia International Airport Borovets lies on the northern slopes of the Rila Mountains, 70km from the nation's capital and at the foot of the Mousala peak (2925m), the highest on the Balkan Peninsula.

Borovets Map

Several international standard golf courses are also planned, including one located above Borovets which will rival the best in the world with its spectacular views of neighboring hills and mountains.

The whole region is attracting institutional investors, and currently represents one of the most exciting investment opportunities in Bulgaria and perhaps in Eastern Europe as a whole.
